National External Diploma Program

A High School Diploma for Adults

The National External
Diploma Program (NEDP)
provides an alternative means to achieving a high school diploma.

New Britain Adult Education – National External Diploma Program

What is the National External Diploma Program (NEDP)?

The NEDP is a high school diploma program for the adult who has acquired many academic skills through life and work experiences. This flexible program allows you to complete assignments at home, to set your own pace, and to work with knowledgeable and helpful professional educators. Through a series of take-home projects and spot-check interviews, this program measures your academic and life skills, including:

- Reading
- Writing
- Mathematics
- Oral communication
- Critical thinking

As you work toward your high school diploma, you will demonstrate and increase your awareness of occupational, social, consumer, aesthetic, government, and scientific issues by:

- Using data-gathering skills
- Manipulating data
- Analyzing data
- Applying data
- Solving problems

RECOMMENDED FOR ADULTS WHO:

- Are highly motivated
- Are 21 years or older
- Are self-directed
- Prefer to demonstrate their knowledge in practical ways

PROGRAM FEATURES:

- Confidentiality
- Flexible scheduling
- Ability to demonstrate mastery of skills without requiring classroom time

DEMONSTRATION OF SKILLS:

Adults will demonstrate skills in practical ways such as:

- Reading a newspaper or warranty
- Participation in government by voting or attending a town meeting
- Writing a letter to a member of congress or to a landlord
- Measuring a room for carpeting
- Computing area and perimeter
- Comparing credit scores
